

British Global and Travel Health Association

16th Annual Conference

Maternal and Infant Health, from a
Global and Travel Health Perspective

The South Hall
Pollock Halls, Holyrood Park Rd.
Edinburgh University
EH16 5AY

Saturday 29th March 2014

Organised in collaboration with the Institute of International Health and Development at Queen Margaret's University, and Medsin (Medical Students International), University of Glasgow.

Supported by the Scottish and Irish Global Health Teaching Network (SIGHTNet) and the Faculty of Travel Medicine at the Royal College of Physicians and Surgeons, Glasgow)

Symposium 1

Wendy Graham, Professor of Obstetric Epidemiology, University of Aberdeen
Regional and cultural variations in services for mothers and children

Symposium 2

Mary Hepburn, Consultant Obstetrician, Glasgow Royal Infirmary
Healthcare for mothers and infants - Clinical and global perspectives

Symposium 3

Fiona Genasi, Consultant Nurse in Travel Health, Health Protection Scotland
Health advice for travellers related to pregnancy and infants

BGT+HA
The British Global and Travel Health Association

medsin
GLOBAL HEALTH · LOCAL ISSUE

Queen Margaret University

Conference Fees	Doctor/Pharmacist/Other	Nurse	Student
BGTHA member	£120 (£100*)	£90 (£70*)	£25
Non-member	£150 (£125*)	£110 (£85*)	£25

Online booking is available at www.bgtha.org

*Early Bird Fee until 01/03/14

The fees include lunch and refreshments

British Global and Travel Health Association

16th Annual Conference

Maternal and Infant Health, from a
Global and Travel Health Perspective

The South Hall
Pollock Halls, Holyrood Park Rd.
Edinburgh University
EH16 5AY

29th March 2014

Programme

09:10 Welcome and keynote talk

09:30 Symposium 1:

Regional and cultural variations in services for mothers and children

Wendy Graham, Professor of Obstetric Epidemiology, University of Aberdeen

Followed by 3 small group workshops

11:00 Refreshment Interval

11:30 Symposium 2:

Healthcare for mothers and infants - Clinical and global perspectives

Mary Hepburn, Consultant Obstetrician, Glasgow Royal Infirmary

Followed by 3 small group workshops

13:00 Lunch

14:00 Symposium 3:

Health advice for travellers relating to pregnancy and for infants

Fiona Genasi, Consultant Nurse in Travel Health, Health Protection Scotland

Followed by 3 small group workshops.

15:30 Roundup, refreshments and close

BGT+HA
The British Global and Travel Health Association

Queen Margaret University

Online booking is available at www.bgtha.org